PREFACE TO 2ND EDITION

The three years which have passed since publication of this work have seen the appearance of much new material useful for New Zealand reference purposes, and I have taken the opportunity offered by a new edition to make many additions, to omit such works as have been superseded, and to correct various details. In all this I have to acknowledge comment and helpful advice from a number of fellow librarians, more particularly Mr. C. R. Taylor, Chief Librarian, Alexander Turnbull Library; Mr. A. G. Bagnall, Librarian of the National Library Centre; and Mr. W. J. McEldowney, Reference Librarian, National Library Service.

The revision was finished, except for the index, at the end of 1948. The subsequent delay has been occasioned by my move from New Zealand to the other end of the world. The burden of seeing the book through the press was undertaken most generously by Mr. Basil Dowling, but as I have seen the corrected proofs and prepared the index any imperfections must be my responsibility.

JOHN HARRIS.

PREFACE TO 1ST EDITION

The New Zealand Library Association asked me in 1945 to proceed with the preparation of a guide to New Zealand reference material. A preliminary version was completed by the beginning of 1946, and some 40 copies were mimeographed for use in the Books Course at the newly-established Library School in Wellington. Since then it has been revised and considerably augmented, and is now published in a mimeographed edition of 200 copies, by the N.Z.L.A.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many individuals have contributed to the completion of this guide, but most of all my wife and the members of my own library staff: Ngarita Gordon, Elizabeth Macnee, Basil Dowling, Audrey King, Jean McGill, Ann Mackenzie, Hector Monro, Effie Farquharson, Elizabeth Richardson, Betty Glasson, Margaret Hall, and Elizabeth J. Robinson.

INTRODUCTION

This work has grown, in the making, into something rather different from what was first intended. It started out to be a simple list of New Zealand reference works such as bibliographies, indexes, dictionaries and year-books. But it soon became clear that if it confined itself to these reference works proper it would miss many books which are in practice used as such. In many subjects there are no reference works and information has to be sought in sundry places, not only in books but in periodicals, publications of societies and institutions, official reports. Government papers in particular range over the whole field of our national life, are indexed most meagrely, if at all, and are almost unknown to the ordinary man.

Finally, as every librarian knows, the quest for information has frequently to be carried beyond books to the fountain-head itself, to a human being whose special interests have made him a sort of encyclopaedia in his particular field, with the added advantage that he is always more up-to-date than any encyclopaedia can be. Such persons can most easily be found through their membership in societies or their work in institutions. The New Zealander of fifty years ago had the habit, we are told, when more than a dozen of him met together, of starting a newspaper. To-day, he tends rather to found a society or association, which more often than not launches a journal, and issues bulletins or at the least annual reports. And each such society is only too willing to spread its gospel, whether it be the breeding of Jersey cattle, the study of numismatics, or the health of women and children. Accordingly, I set out to note under each subject heading any specialist bodies together with the appropriate government department. And as the first aim of the guide was to assist in the tracking down of printed sources of information, it seemed useful to add the names of libraries particularly strong in that field; because a specialised library collection has usually the added advantage of being the focus of a group of specialists and so offering the best of all opportunities to the enquirer.

My aim, in short, has been to indicate what sources of information are available about things New Zealand, as well as things in New Zealand. That the compilation has many defects and omissions I am only too well aware. It is not the sort of work that anyone can produce successfully single-handed, and though it has already had the advice of several individuals, it requires now that wider assistance in the way of suggestions and constructive criticism that can be hoped for from publication. That is why it is being issued in mimeographed form, so that in a few years' time a revised issue will be possible. Once a work is put into print, the effort and expense of doing so tends to fossilise it; and a work of this kind, to be of any use, must have flexibility and must be kept up-to-date. So, with all its faults, and with too little time for me to improve it further at the moment, here it is.

SCOPE

The aim has been to approach subjects in their New Zealand applications only. It includes works about New Zealand birds, for instance, or about bird study in New Zealand, but not about birds in general even if by a New Zealander; books about our local literature, but not the literature itself unless it happens to be of an informational kind. It must on no account be mistaken for a selection of best books. Many of the best books, such as John Mulgan's novel Man Alone, and Guthrie Smith's Tutira, do not qualify; but the reader will be led to them by the reference works which are listed here. Eric McCormick's Letters and Art in New Zealand, for instance, will introduce him to both these books.

In selecting works for inclusion, first preference has been given to reference works such as bibliographies, dictionaries, guides. Where such exist, they themselves will lead the enquirer on to other material. To the extent that they do not exist, other works are noted. In some cases they may be trivial, but where they are the only sources available it seems useful to mention them if only to point the need for something better.

OFFICIAL

In every case where it is possible, reference is made to: (1) the relevant sections in the NEW ZEALAND OFFICIAL YEAR-BOOK, which is undoubtedly the most notable single reference work we possess, and far too little known, and (2) to other official papers most of which are bound up annually in those monumental volumes that go by the rather alarming title of APPENDIX TO THE JOURNALS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

In both cases references are: (a) to material in the latest issues, and (b) to special articles and papers in earlier ones. For instance, reports of Royal Commissions, Commissions, Select Committees, etc., have been noted whenever they seem to be still important as reference sources. Nearly all such papers are, of course, usually available separately in addition to being bound up in the APPENDIX. The references here are to the latter only.

SERIALS AND SOCIETIES

Serial publications such as periodicals, bulletins, proceedings, etc., are noted wherever possible. Some of them are mines of information, others frequently contain the odd thing required in the way of current information. It is not pretended that these lists are comprehensive, and further information or suggestions will be welcome for inclusion in the next issue. In nearly all cases they have been confined to those in actual operation to-day.

LIBRARIES

For each subject an attempt has been made to discover what libraries are strongest. The selection is a personal one, and no suggestion is made that others may not be equally good as sources of information. Consideration has been given to special collections which are still being added to, to strength of periodical literature and to usefulness from the research rather than the popular point of view.

ARRANGEMENT

The book is in numbered sections classified according to subject. The general arrangement follows that of the Otago University Library which uses the Bliss Bibliographical Classification, and is set out on the contents page.

INDEX

At the end is an index not only to the classification but to minor subjects, to every individual work (under author), to titles of serials and names of societies, government departments, etc.

Index references are not to pages but to sections and sub-sections:

e.g.—Fireclay 25:3

means that in section 25, sub-section 3, will be found references to sources of information about fireclay in N.Z.

ENTRIES

Entries under each subject, where there are more than half a dozen, are arranged generally as follows:—

Bibliographies

References to NZOYB (NEW ZEALAND OFFICIAL YEAR BOOK)

References to relevant numbers of the centennial publication MAKING NEW ZEALAND

Introductions, manuals, guides

Standard works

Official, and especially the APPENDIX TO THE JOURNALS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Serials and Societies.

Maps

Chief libraries or book collections.

Bibliographical details are given as fully as possible for the main reference works, and in most other cases include (a) place of publication when not either Wellington or by the ubiquitous firm of Whitcombe and Tombs, (b) publisher, (c) year. It seemed only misleading to give prices in view of their present instability. And though many works have the note o.p., the same may apply to many others.

References to NZOYB and to the APPENDIX are to the 1945 issue unless otherwise stated.

e.g.:

Appendix H.-34 means section H, sub-section 34 in the 1945 Appendix.

Appendix 1926: H.-27 means section H, sub-section 27 in the 1926 issue.

LIBRARY ABBREVIATIONS

This is not only a list of libraries referred to in the following pages, but has been made to include as many as possible of those libraries which are likely to be useful for reference purposes.

The abbreviations are those approved by the N.Z. Library Association. They are formed by using a capital letter, or a capital followed by a small letter, for the town, and then another capital letter, or capital and small letter, to indicate the type of library. A colon is used to distinguish a departmental or other dependent library.

GENERAL REFERENCE

1 DICTIONARIES

1:1 English

MORRIS, Edward E. Austral-English: a dictionary of Australasian words, phrases and usages, with those aboriginal Australian and Maori words which have become incorporated in the language, and the commoner scientific words that have had their origin in Australasia. Macmillan, 1898. xxiv, 525 p.

Includes a large proportion of New Zealand words, and is particularly useful for names of trees, etc., for which it gives the scientific as well as Maori and pakeha terms.

BAKER, S. J. New Zealand slang: a dictionary of colloquialisms, the first comprehensive survey yet made of indigenous English speech in this country—from the argot of whaling days to children's slang in the twentieth century. W. & T., 1941. vi, 114 p. Bibliog. p. 105-8.

1:2 Maori

WILLIAMS, Herbert William. Dictionary of the Maori language. Govt. printer, 1917. xxi [3], 590 p. o.p.

The standard Maori-English Dictionary, based on the following work which is still necessary for its English-Maori section:

WILLIAMS, William and Williams, W. L. Dictionary of the New Zealand language. 4th ed. Auckland and London, 1892. xv, 325 p.

o.p. There was a reprint in 1915 by W. & T. (226 p.) but only of the Maori-English part.

TREGEAR, Edward. Maori-Polynesian comparative dictionary. Lyon & Blair, 1891. xxiv, 675 p.

Maori words and equivalent in Samoan, Tahitian, Hawaiian, Tongan, Rarotongan, Marquesan, Mangarevan, Paumotan, Moriori and extra-Polynesia such as Fijian, Malay and Malagasy. Gives examples of a word's use and much mythological reference. An English-Maori vocabulary at end.

2 ENCYCLOPAEDIAS

CYCLOPEDIA OF NEW ZEALAND. Industrial, descriptive, historical, biographical. Facts, figures, illustrations. 6v. The Cyclopaedia Co., 1897-1908. o.p.

This is the only attempt at a New Zealand encyclopedia, and though a vast amount of information, chiefly biographical, is contained in its six volumes, it lacks the most important requisites of a good reference work: it is really not one work but six, each province being treated separately; there is no general index and each volume has four separate indexes; finally the articles lack the authority indispensable to a good encyclopaedia.

BELSHAW, Horace. ed. New Zealand. 1947. [For details see Section 55]. This is not an encyclopaedia but an up-to-date symposium on various aspects of N.Z. life, past and present, useful for reference purposes.

3 YEAR-BOOKS

NEW ZEALAND OFFICIAL YEAR-BOOK (Census and Statistics Dept.) 1 (1892).—The most important N.Z. reference work. Packed with concise information about New Zealand, its natural history, climate, resources, government, trade, education system, social services, manufactures, etc. Includes authoritative articles on different aspects of national life and much statistical material.

Points to note for quick reference are:

- (1) The Index—essential for quick reference but not to be relied on entirely as it is far from full.
- (2) Folding map of New Zealand and dependencies.
- (3) Appendix: (a) Chronological list of noteworthy events in the history of New Zealand.
(b) General bibliography, noting the more important N.Z. works under broad headings. The latest issue has reduced this feature so that it merely supplements lists in the 1943 and earlier issues. Several issues therefore need to be kept for quick reference.
- (c) List of articles on special subjects appearing in previous issues of the Year-book. These articles are full and authoritative and sometimes form the best sources of information.
- (4) The Official Directory which lists chief government personnel (e.g., cabinet, parliament, departmental heads, judges, foreign government representatives, etc.).

4 DIRECTORIES & ALMANACS

4:1 General

WISE'S NEW ZEALAND POST OFFICE DIRECTORY. 1872/3—.

Contains (a) Streets directory, (b) Towns directory, (c) Alphabetical directory of persons, institutions, firms and other occupiers of premises, (d) Trades directory, (e) Legal, Medical Ecclesiastical, Educational, Govt., and Local Body directories, (f) Population statistics by counties, boroughs, towns and cities.

4:2 Provincial

WISE'S AUCKLAND PROVINCIAL DIRECTORY. (This replaced Leighton's in 1942).

WISE'S NAPIER-HASTINGS STREETS DIRECTORY (including adjacent towns). 1948.

STONE'S WELLINGTON, HAWKES BAY AND TARANAKI DIRECTORY.

STONE'S CANTERBURY, NELSON, MARLBOROUGH AND WESTLAND DIRECTORY.

STONE'S OTAGO AND SOUTHLAND DIRECTORY.

All these are annuals containing directories of streets, residents, professions and trades, government officials, local bodies, educational judicial and ecclesiastical persons, clubs, societies and unions, and a final section—"Stone's New Zealand Annual"—which provides much useful general information and a detailed calendar. During and since the war the latter sections (from "Trades" inclusive) have been omitted.

LUCAS'S ALMANAC FOR NELSON, MARLBOROUGH AND BULLER. NELSON (not published 1943-46).

4:3 Official

In addition to the General and Provincial Directories, the New Zealand Official Year-book also includes an Official directory. There are also:

ELECTORAL ROLLS issued before each general election by Registrars of Electors. As registration is now obligatory, these, together with the Supplementary Rolls, list all persons aged 21 and over, whereas only heads of households appear in the general and provincial directories.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES

4:4 Trades and Business

UNIVERSAL BUSINESS DIRECTORIES. Auckland. [Published in volumes as follows]:

- (a) Auckland provincial
- (b) " city
- (c) Wellington provincial
- (d) " city
- (e) Hawkes Bay—East Coast
- (f) Taranaki
- (g) Canterbury
- (h) Nelson—Marlborough—West Coast
- (i) Otago—Southland
- (j) Pacific Islands Trades Directory.

Each contains a trades directory with town maps and telephone numerical indexes.

4:5 Libraries

Current Directories are found in most public libraries and post offices. Collections of old Directories are in the following libraries:

AP (espec. Auckland's). WGa (e.g. complete electoral rolls).
DU:Ho (espec. early N.Z.). WTu

BIBLIOGRAPHIES AND LIBRARIES

5 BIBLIOGRAPHIES, General

HOCKEN, Thomas Morland. Bibliography of the literature relating to New Zealand. Govt. printer, 1909. xii, 619 p. o.p.

This supersedes the two earlier bibliographies by Davis and Collier and remains the standard work. Arrangement is chronological, with an Addenda (p. 488-98), a Maori bibliography (p. 499-547, Varia (p. 549-53), and an index to authors and subjects—the last very general—but not to titles. Note that the index (a) is in 3 parts: General (but excluding Verse), Sermons, Verse; (b) Does not include the Maori section. Note also Corrigenda, Omissions, etc., on p. xi-xii.

Full bibliographical details and critical and biographical annotations. It is supplemented by:

JOHNSTONE, A. H. Supplement to Hocken's Bibliography of New Zealand literature. W. & T., 1927. ii, 73 p. o.p.

"... not a bibliography, but simply a record of books and pamphlets which ... are known to exist." (Preface).

Lists of over 500 books and pamphlets published before 1909 not noted by Hocken, plus many published 1909-1926. The list of the latter does not pretend to any degree of completeness.

CHAPPLE, Leonard James Bancroft. Bibliographical brochure containing addenda and corrigenda to extant bibliographies of New Zealand literature. Reed, 1938. 47, [1] p.

Lists 116 items published in 1909 or earlier and not found in Hocken or Johnstone.

ANDERSEN, Johannes C. ed. Annals of New Zealand literature, ed. ... for the N.Z. authors' week committee. The committee, 1936. 117 p.

An author list with many portraits, many major omissions, and scanty details; but useful for its inclusion of many works of fiction by New Zealanders not noted elsewhere.

6 BIBLIOGRAPHIES, Select

TAYLOR, Clyde Romer H. Select list of books relating to New Zealand and certain Pacific islands, 1912-1939. (Bibliographical list No. 6 of the Alexander Turnbull Library. Reprinted from the N.Z. Official Year-book 1940). Govt. printer, 1940.

Omits works not published or republished since 1912. Earlier works are listed in the 1932 issue of the NZOYB. Lists 287 works. Gives publisher but not price.

NEW ZEALAND OFFICIAL YEAR-BOOK (Section 3).

The 1940 number contains Taylor's Select list ... (above), and the 1946 number repeats this with additions for the intervening years. Each issue has a select list of works relating to New Zealand published since previous issue.

NATIONAL BOOK COUNCIL, London. New Zealand. (Book list 42). 5th ed. The council, 1938.

"A representative list of books dealing with New Zealand."

Includes only books still in print. Lists 181 works by broad subject headings with publisher and in most cases price.

SAGE, John P. Best New Zealand books ... between 1939 and 1946. National Library Service, 1947. Mimeographed.

7 BIBLIOGRAPHIES, Current

N.Z. ARMY BOARD. Education rehabilitation service. New Zealand libraries of information. 1944. 48 p. Mimeographed.

Alphabetical list of

(a) N.Z. publications in print; (b) "many New Zealand books now out of print"; (c) "some books about New Zealand published overseas"; (d) select list of New Zealand periodicals (current). Lists approximately 630 books, giving author, title, publisher and date, but not price; and 81 periodicals (title and place of publication only).

NEW ZEALAND. GENERAL ASSEMBLY LIBRARY. Copyright list. 1 (1933/34).—

Annual publication listing, by author only, all publications (with very minor exceptions) copyrighted during previous year. Gives size, publisher and price. It is now supplemented by monthly mimeographed lists, and by a printed catalogue card service organised by the National Library Service.

NEW ZEALAND. GENERAL ASSEMBLY LIBRARY. List of accessions. (See Section 9).

Useful for N.Z. publications prior to commencement of copyright list in 1933-34 and for publications about N.Z. published overseas.

NEW ZEALAND OFFICIAL YEAR-BOOK. (See Section 6).

CUMULATIVE BOOK INDEX. N.Y. The monthly volumes, but not the bound ones, includes in their preliminary pages lists of publications from New Zealand, Australia, etc.

8 BIBLIOGRAPHIES, Special

8:1 Maori literature

WILLIAMS, Herbert William. Bibliography of printed Maori to 1900. (Dominion museum monograph No. 7). Govt. printer, 1924. xvi, 198 p.

——— Supplement. Govt. printer, 1928.

Includes all works printed wholly in Maori, or in Maori with a translation. Also all works dealing wholly with the Maori language, but excluding works of wider scope, a portion only of which is in Maori or deals with the Maori language. Arrangement is chronological with an index to authors and titles, but not to subjects. Full bibliographical details and annotations.

8:2 Children's Books

WHITE, Dorothy Mary Neal. Junior books: a recommended list for boys and girls compiled for the School and children's libraries standing committee of the New Zealand Library Association by Dorothy Neal. NZLA, 1940. iii p., 95 leaves. Mimeographed.

WHITE, Dorothy Mary Neal. About books for children. |NZCER in conjunction with N.Z. Library Association, 1946. xiv, 222 p., bibliog. p. 203-18.

These are not concerned with New Zealand books, but books for New Zealand children.

8:3 Publishers' Catalogues

N.Z. Government Printer. Price list of Public Acts, 1908-1938, and publications on sale at the Government stationery office . . . Govt. printer, 1939.

——— Amendment No. 1 (1940).—

The amendments note not only new publications but those gone out of print. They are normally issued annually.

9 LIBRARY CATALOGUES

The following printed catalogues are useful either for locating particular works or in a subject approach:

AUCKLAND. Public Library. General catalogue . . . 1888. 2 vols. bound in one. Note pagination: xxv, 343, 25, iii, 240, 47.

The first volume lists the Grey collection, the second is a catalogue of the Free Public Library. The index at the end of volume is to the latter only.

HOCKEN LIBRARY, Otago University, Dunedin. Catalogue . . . comp. by W. H. Trimble. 1912. vii, 516 p.

An author and classified catalogue of the collections of N.Z. and Pacific material which formed the basis for Hocken's bibliographical and historical work.

N.Z. General assembly library. Catalogue . . . 2 vols. Govt. printer, 1897.

——— Supplement. 1899.

——— List of accessions. (Annual), 1899/1902-

This library has for many years been in effect the Dominion's national library. The original catalogue is in dictionary form.

ROYAL EMPIRE SOCIETY LIBRARY, London. Subject catalogue. 4 v. 1930-32.

Vol. 2 includes New Zealand, and is useful for its indexing of many journals, etc., containing relevant material. [See Section 55 for fuller details].

12 SERIALS

12:1 Lists

HARRIS, John, comp. Check list of serials in New Zealand libraries. N.Z.L.A., 1942. 358 leaves. Mimeographed.
— Supplement, 1945. 51 leaves. Mimeographed.

The Supplement is confined mainly to scientific and technical publications, but the main list is comprehensive in scope. It was "issued as the initial step in the compilation of a union list . . . It is also a finding list, though only incidentally and only to the extent that for each publication listed it indicates at least one library known to hold it . . ." (Introduction).

The Union List itself is still in course of preparation. The file of cards is held in the National Library Centre, Otago University Library, where enquiries should be sent.

24:3 Standard Works

COTTON, Charles Andrew. Geomorphology: an introduction to the study of landforms. 4th ed., W. & T., 1946. [13], 505 p.

The first edition, 1926, had title "Geomorphology of New Zealand. Part 1, Systematic." Part 2 was never published, but the original Part 1 has been considerably extended, and as it draws largely on New Zealand for its examples and illustrations, it is useful even as a source of reference on New Zealand geology.

53:1 Bibliography

HAMILTON, A. Handlist of certain books and papers containing information relating more or less directly to the Maori of New Zealand. Dominion museum, [1911], 30 p.

The only attempt at a comprehensive bibliography but so out of date that it must be supplemented by bibliographies appearing in some of the following works:

53:2 Introductions

MAKING NEW ZEALAND. Pictorial surveys no. 2, The Maori.

BEST, Elsdon. The Maori as he was. (N.Z. board of science and art, Manual no. 4). Second issue, Govt. printer, 1934. xv, 280 p.

55 HISTORY

55:1 Bibliographies

CAMBRIDGE HISTORY OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE. v7pt2, New Zealand. C.U.P. 1933. Bibliog. p. 259-90. An extensive list with brief annotations but the number of important works published since its completion is relatively large.

BAGNALL, Austin Graham. Reference list of books and other publications associated with New Zealand centennial, 1840-1940. Govt. printer, 1942. 27 p.

(Lists 183 works, mainly historical works issued under auspices of national and local centennial committees at the time of N.Z.'s centenary.)

JORE, L. Essai de bibliographie du Pacifique. Paris, 1931. iv, 233 p. 11.

Useful for its reference to material in certain French journals such as La Revue Maritime et Coloniale and for the many French books. Sections on New Zealand and the non-French islands not so good. Bibliographical details scanty.

HOCKEN LIBRARY, Otago University. Catalogue. 1912. (see Section 9).

N.Z. DEPARTMENT OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS. National historical committee. List of theses. [1938?]. [2], 791.

Mimeographed list of several hundred theses on various aspects of New Zealand history. Location of copies is noted. Arrangement: classified, with index to authors and subjects.

ROYAL EMPIRE SOCIETY, London. Library. Subject catalogue. 4v 1930-32.

Vol. 2 comprises Australia, New Zealand, South Pacific, General Voyages and Travels, Arctic and Antarctic regions. Classified catalogue with an author but no subject index, to one of the world's best collections of New Zealand material. Includes not only books but pamphlets, official papers and even articles in a number of journals such as Journal of the Royal Geographical Society. The whole work is in effect a bibliography of the British overseas empire.

55:2 Standard works

BEAGLEHOLE, John Cawte. New Zealand: a short history. London, Allen & Unwin, 1936. 164 p. o.p.

Hardly a reference work, but the best brief interpretation.

BELSHAW, Horace. New Zealand; chapters by W. T. G. Airey [and others]; published in co-operation with the Internat. Secretariate of the Inst. of Pacific Relations and the N.Z. Inst. of Internat. Affairs]. (United Nations Series) California University Press, 1947. xvii, 329 p. bibliog. p. 313-319.

Has chapters on history, ethnology, politics, economics, sociology, education, literature, etc.

CAMBRIDGE HISTORY OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE. Vol. 7, Pt. 2. New Zealand. C.U.P., 1933. (Scholarly work, containing contributions by various authorities).

CONDLIFFE, John B. New Zealand in the making. London, Allen & Unwin, 1930. 3 p. 1., 9-254 p., 11. o.p. (The best economic history).

CONDLIFFE, John B. and AIREY, W. Short history of New Zealand. 6th ed. W. & T., 1938. xiv, 289, [1] p., 11. (A school text).

MAKING NEW ZEALAND. Pictorial surveys of a century. 2 vols. Dept. of internal affairs, 1940. (A popular series of illustrated surveys).

MORRELL, William Parker. New Zealand (The modern world) Benn, 1935. xiv, 372 p. (A survey of present and past).

REEVES, William Pember. The long white cloud. 3rd ed. London, Allen & Unwin, 1924. 390 p. (For long the standard work, and still very readable).

SHRIMPTON, Arnold Wilfred, and MULGAN, Alan Edward. A history of New Zealand. 2nd ed., W. & T. [1930?], 452 p. (A student's text).

56 OFFICIAL PAPERS

56:1 General guides and lists

SCHOLEFIELD, G. H. Historical sources and archives in N.Z. Govt. printer, 1929. 15 p.

Brief 15 page introduction by the Dominion Archivist.

SCHOLEFIELD, G. H. Union list of New Zealand official papers and British papers relating to New Zealand, 1939.

A mimeographed list showing holdings of university and public libraries, the General Assembly, Hocken, Lands & Survey Dept., etc. In the larger libraries many gaps evident in 1939 may now be filled.

WGa has a definitive list of British parliamentary papers relating to N.Z. 1835-86 and a key volume of schedules of contents.

ADAM, MARGARET I. and others. Guide to the principal parliamentary papers relating to the Dominions, 1812-1911. Edinburgh, Oliver & Boyd, 1913. viii, 190 p.

Includes 85 pages relating to New Zealand, with, in most cases, brief notes of content.

COLE, A. H., ed. Finding list of royal commission reports in the British Dominions. Harvard U.P., 1939. 134 p.

The New Zealand section lists 157 reports with detail of size, date, etc., and reference to the official publication in which they are printed. Classified arrangement under broad heads such as Governmental Administration, External Relations, Agriculture and the Land, Labour and Labour Organisation.

56:2 Provincial period, 1853-75

During this period, there were, in addition to the general New Zealand Government papers, the official papers issued by the various provincial councils. These included Gazettes, Votes and Proceedings, Ordinances, etc., varying in fullness and extent. No full indexing.

56:3 Dominion Government papers

The most important for reference purposes are:

NEW ZEALAND GAZETTE. 1840—[1848-53 in 2 pts.: N.Z. Govt. Gazette (Prov. of New Ulster), N.Z. Govt. Gazette (Prov. of New Munster)].

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. This has several collective indexes.

- (1) Index to the Principal Resolutions passed by, or Motions negatived, withdrawn and lapsed in the House of Representatives covering the period 1854-1902.
- (2) A General Index to the Journals of the House of Representatives of New Zealand. 1893-1902.
- (3) A General Index to the Journals of the House of Representatives of New Zealand. 1903-23.

From 1932 each volume has had a fairly good index though the headings are strictly formal. From 1936 schedules are appended showing the business of the session, acts passed, and statistics of duration of sessions as far back as 1875 (reduced latterly to the period since 1900).

APPENDIX TO THE JOURNALS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. 1854—.

This is the most important source of information about every aspect of New Zealand, the country, its economic, social and cultural life. It includes reports of all government departments, committees, Royal Commissions, etc.

Indexing. Latterly papers for each session have been provided with indexes. There are also two collective indexes:

- (1) 1854-1913
- (2) 1914-1922.

These must be used with the greatest caution. They are not subject indexes but merely lists of the titles of documents arranged under broad heads.

PARLIAMENTARY DEBATES. (Hansard). (a) 1854-66. 4 vols. compiled by Maurice Fitzgerald from newspaper reports, etc. (b) Vol. 1 (1867)—.

The first vol. is in two parts. No subject index, no collective index until 1932. Rough index to names, motions, etc., in each volume and for each session. After 1932, following pattern of English Hansard, an approach has been made to subject index. Lists of acts passed and statistics of previous sessions.

STATUTES. These began as Ordinances of the Legislative council, 1841-53, and continued as Statutes . . . 1854—.

All revisions, etc., were incorporated in the Consolidated Statutes . . . 5 vols., 1908. These were reprinted, incorporating all amendments to December 31, 1931, as PUBLIC ACTS OF NEW ZEALAND (reprint) 1908-1931. Ed. by H. Alley Palmer. 9 vols. Butterworth (Aus.), 1932-33.

Vol. 9 is a general index which includes a table of cases, tables of acts both alphabetical and chronological, and Imperial acts in force in N.Z.

See Section 89, Law, for Butterworth's Annotations of New Zealand Statutes, which give later revisions, and for other legal indexes, etc.

STATUTORY REGULATIONS, 1936/37— Govt. printer.

57 EXPLORATION AND DISCOVERY

(See also Section 27 MAPS)

BEAGLEHOLE, John Cawte. The discovery of New Zealand. (Centennial survey). Dept. of internal affairs, 1939. xvi p., 2 l., 160 p.

BUCK, Sir Peter H. Vikings of the sunrise. N.Y., Stokes, 1941. xiii, 335 p. (Polynesian exploration of the Pacific).

McCLYMONT, Wm. G. The exploration of New Zealand. (Centennial survey). Dept. internal affairs, 1940. vii p., 4 l., 197, [2], 198-202 p., 1 l.

McNAB, Robert, ed. Historical records of New Zealand. Vols. 1-2 [all issued]. Govt. printer, 1908-14.

"Vol. 1 consists of the references to N.Z. which were contained in the printed and unprinted Records of N.S.W.—in regard to the unprinted documents, the Editor had to rely upon the copies sent him without being able to verify the accuracy of the transcription. It now appears that, while not altogether inaccurately copied, there is a want of completeness . . . greatly to be regretted. This weakness commences on p. 316 and is found to the end of the volume." (Preface to Vol. 2). Never revised or continued and not altogether reliable, but remains the only published source for many documents, journals, etc., of the very early period.

58 BIOGRAPHY

58:1 General

SCHOLEFIELD, G. H. Dictionary of New Zealand biography. 2 vols. Dept. of internal affairs, 1940.

Includes persons who had died by 1940. Points to note are: (1) The index to all personal names which appear in the articles but which are not given separate entries; (2) The supplement of several pages at the end of vol. 2. These names are also in the index; (3) Bibliography of biographical works of New Zealand interest, p. xviii-xxix; (4) References at end of each article to other printed sources of information.

WHO'S WHO IN NEW ZEALAND AND THE WESTERN PACIFIC.

4th ed. Watkins, 1941. 1st ed., 1908; 2nd ed., 1924; 3rd ed., 1932.

Reference to the earlier editions is still necessary in the case of persons who have since died and yet not found a place in the DNZB. Includes such features as an official directory, etc., but as the work is not an annual, such information is better provided by the Provincial Directories, NZOYB, etc. [See Directories].

58:2 Other biographical sources are:

1. School lists such as those of Christ's College (5th ed., 1935), Wanganui Collegiate School (2nd ed., 1939), Cathedral Grammar School (1941), Otago Boys' High School (1907).
2. Rolls of early settlers (e.g. AUCKLAND PROVINCIAL CENTENNIAL COUNCIL). Roll of early settlers and descendants in the Auckland province prior to the end of 1852. (1940); and Wellington pioneers roll: arrivals to 1855. (1940).
3. Lists of university graduates, especially the Alphabetical roll of graduates to 1938 issued by the University of New Zealand in 1939.
4. New Zealand parliamentary record. Govt. printer, 1925.
5. Directories. [See Section 4].
6. Early Settlers' Associations in the various provinces.

Has chapters on Otago's Physiography by C. A. Cotton, Climate by Garnier, Vegetation and Soils by John T. Holloway, Eastern Otago by K. W. Robinson, Central Otago by Garnier, Southland and Fiordland by R. W. Willett.

GILKISON, Robert. Early days in Dunedin. W. & T., 1938. [xi], 172 p.

Hardly a reference work but contains much interesting and amusing history and has an index.

HOCKEN, T. M. Contributions to the early history of New Zealand [Settlement of Otago]. London, Sampson, Low, Marston, 1898. xiv, 342 p.

History of the province to the gold discoveries of 1861. Appendixes include early diaries and official correspondence, list of vessels and immigrants from 1847 to 1850 and a precis of principal events from 1840 to 1897. The volume contains no index but one has been made by Joan Wood at the Alexander Turnbull Library and type-script copies are available in some libraries.

REED, Alfred Hamish. The story of Otago . . . Reed, 1947. 368 p. Covers the period to 1870 only.

ROWLAND, Lorna, ed. Yesterday and to-day in Otago. Dunedin, Coulls, Somerville, Wilkie, for the Otago provincial centennial council court committee, 1940. 47 p.

This short booklet is the only general history of the province going beyond 1870, and is more useful than its mere size might suggest.

Most of the above may be superseded shortly, for normal reference purposes, by A. H. McIntock's centennial history of Otago, now in the press (1948).

NOTE

The publication at the end of 1950 of the first printed edition of the Guide to New Zealand Reference Material has made this useful bibliographical approach to the whole field of information about this country more widely available to library and other users. In the two years, however, since the Guide went to press many books and periodicals, important in their own subjects, have appeared which would justify inclusion. The New Zealand Library Association has therefore decided to issue the first supplement to the original work which at the suggestion of Mr. Harris I have been asked to compile.

Entries are set out in exactly the same form as in the original work, so that it will be possible to cut up and insert the new titles opposite, in the case of interleaved copies, or alongside the appropriate sections. Except in a few cases no attempt has been made to note minor changes of name of publishing and administrative bodies, or of title. Opportunity has been taken to note one or two significant titles omitted from the major work. Additions to or changes in the list of library symbols have not for the present been noted.

It was fortunately possible to go over the majority of the entries with Mr. Harris during a recent visit to New Zealand. I am also indebted to Mr. A. L. Olsson, who has checked the list and made many valuable suggestions, as has also Mr. E. H. Leatham, Librarian, Dept. of Scientific and Industrial Research.

A. G. BAGNALL.

INTRODUCTION

The first printed edition of the Guide to New Zealand Reference Material was issued in 1950 and the first Supplement the following year. During the five years which have since passed, many new books and periodicals have appeared which merit inclusion. Numerous changes in the content, scope and value of items already listed have also occurred.

Entries as in the first Supplement have been set out in the form of the original work. Entries have been printed on one side of the page only, so that libraries may cut and mount them in interleaved copies. Except in a few cases minor changes in the names of institutions, societies and titles have not been noted. Existing entries, however, have been amended or deletion recommended where the original information is now sufficiently out of date to be misleading. The number of new titles which could be added in certain subjects is considerable, and it is hoped that the selection made has been in conformity with the character of the Guide as a basic reference book.

The list of library symbols in the Guide has not been amended as an up-to-date select list is being printed concurrently with this Supplement in the new edition of the Interloan handbook.

I am again indebted to Mr. E. H. Leatham, Chief Librarian, D.S.I.R., for many useful suggestions and comments.

A. G. BAGNALL.
